

Physical Activity Policy

Greenmeadow Primary School

Title	Physical Activity Policy
Date	May 2024
Review	May 2027
Author	Mr G Westcott

Introduction

As a school we recognise that learners spend around a third of their time here between the ages of four and sixteen. Physical activity provided in school can make a positive contribution towards giving children and young people opportunities to develop positive behaviours for life.

This policy will enable our school to link the positive effects that increased physical activity can bring to learner's physical, mental and emotional wellbeing.

At Greenmeadow Primary School we are committed to encouraging our learners to lead active and healthy lifestyles. We believe that healthy learners will be able to take full advantage of the educational opportunities that the school provides. The partnership of home and school is critical in shaping young people, and their future health.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the following school policies:

- Health and Wellbeing
- Nutrition

Rationale

A lack of physical activity is a major contributing factor to increasing levels of childhood obesity and associated health problems. In response to these concerns, the Welsh Government has produced Healthy Weight: Healthy Wales, a long term strategy which outlines the vital role schools play as healthy settings to positively influence future life outcomes.

In addition, the recommendations set out in the Chief Medical Officers report 2019 states that all children and young people should engage in moderate to vigorous intensity physical activity for at least 60 minutes per day across the week. They should also minimise the amount of time spent being sedentary for extended periods.

The Wellbeing of Future Generations \(Wales\) Act has at its core an intention to improve the health, social, economic, environmental, and cultural wellbeing of Wales. Promoting increasing levels of physical activity will be a key component of achieving the ambitions within this Act. Increased physical activity, from the very earliest years, is essential to ensure healthy growth and development, as well as being linked to improved academic achievement.

Aim

The aim of this Physical Activity policy is to provide a 'whole school approach' to physical activity in Greenmeadow Primary School by equipping learners with the knowledge and skills to establish and maintain life-long active lifestyles. We at Greenmeadow Primary School aim to ensure that physical activity becomes integral to the overall value system of the school and a common thread of best practice that runs through the curriculum and the whole school community.

Objectives

- To ensure that all activities and services related to physical activity provided for learners throughout the school day are consistent with the curriculum, appropriate national guidance and regulation and that mixed messages are avoided.
- To ensure that the school takes up opportunities to be involved in any local and national initiatives relating to physical activity.
- To offer a broad range of inclusive, safe, stimulating indoor and outdoor sports, play and recreational activities to continually develop physical literacy levels.

We recognise that all learners have rights under the 54 Articles of the United Nations
